HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. H. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

EASTERN DATES TO DECEMBER 20

Congressional

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—In the House, [illegible] presented a memorial of Senators and Representatives of Tennessee in Congress, praying [illegible] to provide for the relief of [illegible] of Tennessee against recent or pending revolutionary proceedings in that State and for the maintenance of a Republican form of government therein.

Bills and joint resolutions were introduced and referred: by Poland, providing for a free system of National banking; by Starkweather, to provide a [illegible] United States District Judge for the eastern district of Texas; by Tanner, to regulate banking [illegible] civil and criminal [illegible]; [illegible] declaratory of the act of [illegible] American [illegible] and emigrant passenger steamers between New York and [illegible] for years [illegible].

The Committee on [illegible] relating to [illegible] affairs in Georgia.

Senator Carpenter presented a petition from members of the legal profession of New York for an increase of the salaries of the Judges of the United States Court; referred.

Kellogg presented the petition of citizens of New Orleans for a navy yard at that port; referred.

In the Senate resolutions were passed to print 80,000 copies of the eulogies on Senator Fessenden.

The House joint resolution to annul the lease of the Custom House block in San Francisco was debated and adopted.

The House census bill was referred to the Committee on revision of laws.

Schurz introduced a bill to reform the civil service and addressed the Senate in support of its provisions. The bill provides for the creation of a Civil Service Board to examine into qualifications of applicants for office. It recognizes two classes: those appointed by the President with advice of the Senate and those who as inferior officials work under the direction of the former class. The bill is quite elaborate in its provisions.

Trumbull, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported a joint resolution declaring Virginia entitled to representation in Congress.

Sumner introduced a bill to charter the American and Holland Cable Company.

Sumner offered a resolution requesting the President to transmit copies of the correspondence between the United States and England concerning questions pending since the rejection of the claims convention by the Senate; also calling for the reports of Captains Bryant and McIntyre on Alaska.

Ramsey introduced a bill for the protection of settlers on the frontiers.

The Senate went into executive session, after which it adjourned.

In the House, among the bills introduced were the following: By Williams, in relation to the constitutional power of Congress to regulate and limit the tariff on railroad companies extending through two or more States, and for the protection of the producing States of the West. By Hay, to distribute the number and rank of government employes among the several States and Territories. By Farnsworth, to abolish the franking privilege. By McCormick, to authorize the acceptance of volunteers by the Governor of Arizona, also to make the Territory of Arizona a separate Surveying District. By Shafer, to set aside certain proceeds of internal revenue for the erection of capitol buildings in Arizona, Dakota, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Wyoming. By Cox, declaring evils arising from the late currency, and that it is one of the highest duties of the government to secure citizens a medium of exchange of fixed and unvarying value that implies a return to specie basis, that no substitute can be received, that it should be commenced now and reached at the earliest practicable moment. By Moore, instructing the committee on Territories to inquire what further legislation is necessary to suppress polygamy in Utah; adopted. By Getz, instructing the Postoffice committee to incorporate in any bill it may report for the abolition of the franking privilege a provision in favor of actual subscribers for free postage; referred the Postoffice committee.

By Woodward, requesting information from the President as to whether any citizens of the United States are imprisoned or detained in military custody by army officers, and if so, to furnish the names, date of arrest, offense charged and a statement of what measures have been taken for their trial since imprisonment; adopted. A number of other bills and resolutions were introduced and referred.

Butler stated that the Reconstruction Committee had postponed the resolution admitting Virginia till after the holidays. Farnsworth moved to suspend the rules to allow him to introduce and put on its passage a joint resolution declaring that Virginia has performed the required acts entitling her to representation in Congress. The House refused to suspend the rules—63 to 108.

Butler moved to proceed to business on the Speaker's table in order to take up and pass the Senate bill to promote reconstruction. A motion was made to lay that motion on the table. It is understood to be the first of a series of dilatory resolutions. The ayes and noes were called, and the motion negatived 48 to 119.

Butler offered a resolution that the rules be now suspended and the House proceed at once to consider the Senate bill to promote reconstruction in Georgia; that at 4 o'clock this afternoon, or as soon thereafter as possible, the House without dilatory motion shall proceed to vote on the passage of the bill.

Eldridge moved to adjourn, and demanded the ayes and noes.

After attempts to introduce other dilatory motions they were ruled out of order by the Speaker, and the House refused to adjourn.

Butler finally modified his motion to take the vote at 3 o'clock to-morrow, which was adopted.

Beck took the floor and made a speech [illegible] to the bill, but finally yielded to a motion for a recess till half past seven.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The Senate [illegible] executive session to-day nearly four hours. After the confirmation of [illegible] it is understood the time was occupied mainly by a prolonged discussion. The President refused to comply with the request of the Judiciary Committee to transmit certain papers relating to the nomination of Circuit Judges. None of the latter have yet been reported from the committee.

The President to-day transmitted to the Senate a voluminous document in reply to the resolution calling for information in regard to Cuba. There is little news in the correspondence submitted, which includes the entire correspondence of the State Department with Minister Sickles and all other parties in relation to the matter.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19, 2 P. M.—In the morning session Woodward made a lengthy speech against the Yerger bill and appealed to the House to postpone it. Mr. Fitch supported the bill on the ground that if any State violated the compact of which she was admitted, Congress had the right to resume its jurisdiction. Mr. Morgan of Ohio opposed the bill. Mr. Axtell of California gave reasons for his opposition to the bill, one being the provision requiring legislative ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment. He protested against it in behalf of his whole State. It was unjust that the vote of California [illegible] should be against the amendment should be affected by the vote of Georgia, [illegible] under the penalty of remaining as Georgia [illegible] because adopted the Fifteenth Amendment would force [illegible] Chinese or negro suffrage on her.

Stanton Appointed Supreme Judge

WASHINGTON, [illegible]—The President [illegible] the Senate to-day the nomination of Edwin M. Stanton as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, vice Grier resigned. Immediately on [illegible] the nomination the Senate went into executive session and confirmed Stanton [illegible].

The Supreme Court has taken a recess till [illegible] of January.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Details [illegible] of the steamship [illegible] carrying [illegible] Babcock, Ingalls and [illegible] to [illegible] with Baez for a lease of the bay of Samana are received. Over a week was consumed in negotiations before the final ratification was effected. All the [illegible] on board the [illegible] besides 1,000 breech-loading muskets and several thousand stand of small arms and a large amount of ammunition were turned over to Baez. These with $150,000 [illegible] in gold [illegible] the [illegible] was hoisted on the Island and [illegible] the bay. [illegible] for fifty years at $150,000 [illegible] gold yearly.

George Francis Out in the Cold

NEW YORK, Dec. [illegible]—George Francis Train found the doors of Cooper Institute closed against him on [illegible] evening by order of the Board of Trustees. [illegible] expected lecture there [illegible]. Train demands $2[illegible] damages.

Boiler Explosion—Fire—Arrest

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20.—An old locomotive on the Reading Railroad exploded the boiler to-day, killing the engineer, James Nagle, instantly, and injuring three others.

[illegible], Dec. 20.—The suburban villa of Mrs. [illegible] Ford was burned Sunday morning; loss twenty thousand dollars. The villa was not [illegible] occupied and the fire is supposed to have originated from a furnace.

[illegible] a neighbor who [illegible] subsequently escaped to Canada, has been surrendered by the Canadian authorities.

New York News

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The departure of the ex-rebel ram Atlanta from below Philadelphia simultaneous with the Spanish gunboats from New York has excited a suspicion that she is really governed and owned by Cubans and is intended to attack the Spanish fleet.

A decision of the Supreme Court to-day in the case of White vs. ex-State Senator Mattoon mulcted the latter in the sum of $30,000.

Florence Scannell is finally declared elected to the Board of Aldermen.

The report in Western papers that Pomeroy's Democrat is about to suspend, is authoritatively denied.

The failure of Charles T. Sheppard & Co., flour dealers, for $60,000 liabilities at Buffalo and $40,000 at Oswego is announced. It is said the creditors have not lost heavily.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The steamer Bienville from Havana, reports this morning that the Bascom exchanged signals on the 17th with the Spanish gunboats. They were in convoy of the war steamer Pizarro, running under all sail with a light wind.

Thurlow Weed publishes a letter vindicating the course of George Peabody during the rebellion. He gives an account of an interview with Mr. Peabody the first year of the war. Mr. P. said he had been led to regard the extremists of both sections as enemies of the Union, but added that his devotion to the rights of our government and union was so strong that, painful as was the thought of war with brethren, he should stand by the Government and do whatever he could do, then and there, for the Union cause. The letter further says that in the attempts of Confederate sympathizers in Parliament to induce recognition of the rebel government, Mr. Peabody manifested his devotion to the North. He never directly or indirectly gave aid, comfort or encouragement to the representative or individual rebels.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The first annual ball of the Fat Men's Association was given to-night. The members of over 185 pounds weight aggregate 20 tons. With such an amount of fat there was a corresponding display of good humor and jollity. The affair was conducted most respectably and a large number of ladies were present. The dresses were very rich and fashionable.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—It has transpired that there was a project matured to blow up the Spanish gunboats and the Spanish war vessel Pizarro. Two tug boats were chartered to lie out in the stream on Saturday night, there being a line of torpedos stretched between them which were to be manipulated from the tug boats. The storm prevented the attempt.

Southern Pacific Railroad.

LAWRENCE, (Kansas) Dec. 19.—R. S. Stevens, managing Director of the Southern Pacific Railroad, on Friday bought of the State all the lands set apart for this road. There will be an excursion to-morrow to Emporia to celebrate the completion of the road to that point. The weather is still favorable to railroad building and the work is being vigorously prosecuted on the six roads in this State.

Louisiana Election.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 20.—The Houston Telegraph reports returns from 112 counties. Davis' majority is 626 with only 7 counties yet to hear from. The Legislature is: Senate, 13 Republicans, 14 Conservatives and three to hear from. House, 26 Republicans, 35 Conservatives and nine to hear from.

General Reynolds has ordered elections to be held in the counties of Navarro and Milan which did not vote at the general election.

Miscellaneous.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 20.—Rev. Dr. Thurston, in control of the Congregational Church of this city, died last night.

ROME, Dec. 20.—The Pope yesterday received a deputation of sixty natives of France and delivered an address to them in French. He explained that the recurrence of Christmas should teach all men a lesson of humility which God had given the world on that day. Pride said the holy Father was the enemy of mankind. At the conclusion of the address the Pope with a voice softened by emotion gave a benediction to the visitors, who were greatly moved, and at the conclusion of the ceremony broke forth into prolonged and enthusiastic vivas.

PARIS, Dec. 20.—It is rumored that the Empress was instrumental in having Spanish refugees ordered out of France, but the report is unfounded. The intermingling of those refugees with the revolutionists here was the real cause of their expulsion.

The Emperor has established by decree a commission to encourage and aid all military societies of mutual assistance founded in France and to this end the Emperor grants half a million of francs to a commission of which he is to be honorary President.

In the Corps Legislatif to-day Rochefort addressed an interpellation to the government relative to the expulsion from French territory of the political refugees Senor Paul Angelo, Deputy of the Spanish Cortes. He said the government had permitted Isabella and the Carlists to conspire in France against Spain, but exercised its severity against the Spanish Republicans. Rochefort concluded: "Then you have only one foe; it is the Republic. She is near at hand and will avenge the wrongs of Frenchmen and Spaniards."

The Old North, New South and [illegible] Union

Commenting on [illegible] of the [illegible] condition of the [illegible] written by a visitor to the late Georgia [illegible] Fair, "Gath," the Washington [illegible] of the Chicago Tribune, says:

There are [illegible] in this [illegible] which bring [illegible] manifest [illegible] and of the nobility of magnanimity which [illegible] North and South. [illegible] of a Colonel [illegible] formerly [illegible] who returned to his home at the [illegible] and found his estate [illegible] like his heart. With a brave [illegible] his own spirit [illegible] of adulation, of revenge, and of dejection, and raised his voice for the [illegible] for complete forgiveness, and for the rights of the Union.

He wrote a letter to a friend in Boston, eloquently [illegible] of his ruin, and his conviction, and the [illegible] took the [illegible] of putting it in a religious paper. Before [illegible] knew that his letter was in any paper, he received a letter from Mr. Denny, an Abolition merchant of Boston, enclosing a check for $1,000 [illegible]. The Colonel replied with [illegible] to this unknown angel, saying that $1,000 would be almost [illegible] to him, but that with a loan of $5,000 he could go [illegible] and would honestly repay the money. Promptly the additional $4,000 [illegible] soon afterward Mr. Alston invited his unknown friend to pay him a visit. When Mr. Denny came in the body to visit his protégé, the latter beheld a hale old [illegible] of 75, and there on the ruin [illegible] of [illegible] the venerable freedom of the North and the youthful freedom of the South, shook hands together like the Father and the Prodigal Son in the Scriptures.

Who is not glad to have lived in this [illegible] generation of humanity, and upon the new hemisphere of the world? Scenes of kindness and forgiveness like this hallow the soldiers' graves they are [illegible] above more than costly monuments which [illegible] crumble. But the merry [illegible] postponed good understanding, the [illegible] and unspoken wisdom of [illegible] so long divided and the recognition of the [illegible] the type of our love and fellowship, this is the highest development of citizenship; this is the empire.

PRESCIENCE OF ROBERT J. WALKER.—The late Robert J. Walker had a firm belief in the power and capacity of the country, and of its renown and prosperity in the future. The following letter to his wife, written about thirty years ago, published for the first time in the Washington Chronicle, will be read with interest:

STEAMBOAT "[illegible],"
NEAR CAIRO, September 12, 1840.

DEAREST MARY:—We are approaching the city of Cairo, and as my letter from St. Louis may not reach you sooner than from this place, I write again to say that my health [illegible] continues excellent, and the boat on which we are embarked is large and comfortable.

The scenery between St. Louis and the Ohio river is very fine, but is inferior in grandeur and variety to that on the Upper Mississippi. I am now persuaded that the population of the United States at the census now taking will exceed 17,000,000, and by the year 1860 will reach 23,000,000. Nearly one-half of this population will be west of the Allegheny mountains at this time, and in 1860 more than one half. The great European hive is just beginning to emigrate here. A general war in Europe would send us millions. Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, Prussia, together with Great Britain, will send us the greater part of the emigration. France, Italy, Spain and Portugal have not yet participated in the emigrating spirit, and the Russians are not permitted to come. At St. Louis Oregon is spoken of as the Western country, and the States of the great valley of the Ohio and Mississippi will soon be regarded as the great central region of the Republic. If little Mary is spared to the age of her great-grandfather, Benjamin Franklin, she will see a city on the Pacific greater than Philadelphia now is, and pass on a railroad from ocean to ocean in less than a week.

If you doubt this, preserve this letter, that little Mary may read it when an old woman and [illegible] her father's predictions.

How grateful should we be to Almighty God that we are permitted to live in an age of such [illegible] interest, and in a country blessed with so much of human liberty. Religion, education and steam are to preserve us a free and united people and to carry on the world in [illegible] to a destiny more sublime than any imagination has dared to conceive. It is said an undevout astronomer is mad, [illegible] time is rapidly approaching when [illegible]

The ladies of [illegible] have raised $[illegible] toward the fund for removing the Confederate dead from Gettysburg to Hollywood.

WEDNESDAY MORNING [illegible] 22 1869

Doubting Thomas

The representative of the [illegible] letter [illegible] Salem [illegible] is distressed with an unbelief in the efficacy of the bill to prevent importation of Chinese coolies introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Williams. We are pained to see also that this gentleman has been unable to bring himself to believe that Senator Williams or any other man of the Radical persuasion honestly intends to prevent such importations. It must really be painful to be in such a state of doubting and we trust that our venerable subject may speedily get relief. There are some evidences of a convincing character which we commend to him—if they do not prove efficacious we can only urge him to pray as did his great prototype, "Lord help thou my unbelief."

We believe President Grant is not much addicted to gasconade nor to the utterance of such phrases as are the politician's staple, which may mean the one thing or the other. If he have a distinguishing trait it is that of meaning business, of going after a knot with drawn sword. In his late message, there is no sentence more plainly or more emphatically uttered than the following: "I advise such legislation as will forever preclude the enslavement of the Chinese upon our soil under the name of coolies and to prevent American vessels from engaging in the transportation of coolies to any country or tolerating the system." This is plain straightforward and is of a man who means what he says, who selects his line of battle and then fights it out on that line. On the same day upon which President Grant's message was read in Congress, Senator Williams introduced a bill, in accordance with the recommendation of the message, to prevent the importation of Coolies into any of the United States, and to make it a penal offense to engage in such importations. This would seem to be sufficient to convince any but the original Doubting Thomas that the designs of the administration and the Republican Congress are not, at all events, in sympathy with the Democratic-Koopmanschap scheme of renewing a quasi slavery system upon American soil.

The trouble with our Doubting Thomas is that he fears Grant and the Republican party will frustrate the Democratic-coolie-importation plan. In fact, he says: "The abolition of the coolie system is just what we most strenuously object to." Here the milk in the cocoa-nut is accounted for. The objection to Chinamen is not so much that they may come here, but that they cannot come [illegible] as slaves. [illegible] is abolished in the United States, never to be [illegible], either in the old form or any other that Democratic "gentlemen" may devise. Let [illegible] his doubts on this point. The policy of the Republican party is to be [illegible] policy of the [illegible] of other countries [illegible] all the rights [illegible] by the treaties and the laws of the land and be subject to all that the laws impose, but that they shall never be brought [illegible] here as slaves.

[illegible] M. Stanton

The dispatches published this morning announce the nomination and confirmation of Edwin M. Stanton to the Supreme Bench, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Robert C. Grier. This is an appointment eminently fit to be made, not only on account of the high qualified legal abilities of the man, but by reason of the long, arduous, and invaluable services he rendered the whole country. As a statesman and lawyer he has few equals now living, and for integrity and firmness of character he is the peer of any American in public life. His appointment reflects credit alike upon the President who appointed, and the Court which is to receive him. Mr. Stanton has been in public life a great part of the time since 1837, when he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of Harrison county, Ohio. Up the time of his appointment as Attorney General of the United States, in December, 1860, he was almost constantly employed in legal proceedings, in various State courts and the Supreme Court of the United States, displaying so much legal knowledge and acumen as to give him the entire confidence of parties holding or defending the most important interests. Whether in the Ohio, or the Pennsylvania, or the Virginia State Courts, or in the Supreme Court of the United States, he stood at the head of the bar. As Attorney General under the last few months of Buchanan's administration, he rendered great service to the country, by resisting the efforts of the secession leaders in the Cabinet and in Congress. To his services as Secretary of War under President Lincoln, may be attributed in a great measure, the fortunate termination of the rebellion and the restoration of the Union to unity and peace. During all the dark days of that struggle, he was more than any one else the backbone of the Government, and by his wonderful energy, unbending firmness, and statesmanlike sagacity [illegible] able to carry the country successfully through crises which would have utterly crushed most other men. For these services as well as for his eminent legal learning and fitness of character to be a Judge we rejoice that he has been appointed.

Editorial Notes

Statistics of immigration published at New York show that during the months of July August and September over one hundred thousand immigrants arrived from Europe at the various Atlantic ports. As had been the case for many months previous by far the largest part of these arrivals were Germans. The States of the Mississippi valley having agencies at the seaboard cities and at Hamburg, Antwerp and other European cities whose business it is to assist these new comers forward, of course obtain the greater share of them.

Since the election in Massachusetts the temperance question has assumed such shape that the State Temperance Alliance in an address, declares that hereafter the whole controversy will be between free trade in liquors and total prohibition. A Boston correspondent says the State Constabulary have been unusually active in seizing the stocks of small groggeries, hoping doubtless to convince the Legislature that the Prohibitory law can be and is inforced. They have not yet attempted to interfere with the sale of liquors in respectable places. It is not yet definitely ascertained exactly how the next Legislature will stand with reference to this law, both parties claiming a majority.

President Grant will be pained to learn that his message is quite unsatisfactory in several respects to the Democratic Press of of Oregon. It is unsatisfactory in that Grant did not write it [illegible] that [illegible] all [illegible] in regard to the [illegible] in regard to the [illegible] to the public [illegible] point to it [illegible] generally unsatisfactory in that it presents altogether a too satisfactory condition of the country. He [illegible] on the other hand represents the country as [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] day.

Not for Sunday That's Manifest

[illegible]

On hangman's day two years ago the writer of this wrote a serious article on "Our (my) Interests in Railroads" [We had no [illegible] in them.] It created an [or for] effect, something like this. I call attention to the fact that three-fourths and more of Christendom and the richest and most populous half of Asia are north of the fortieth parallel. This indisputably being the case, what is to prevent that portion of America which lies on a line between the two [that is to say, on a line between three-fourths and more of Christendom and the richest and most populous half of Asia—without touching either too] from looming into as great prominence as either?—the aforesaid three-fourths and richest half. Don't think of this, won't you?

We assert that there is a belt for all conquering nations. The men who overcome others in passage at arms and in the "manly art" always wear that belt. You know Muggins that Bell's Life teaches this. You will find a record in Batrachomyomachia wherein Loud Roarer succumbed to the valorous Bread Muncher. But you need not remember any of this, won't you?

Here then we have an absurdity and a sequence. We will attempt to maintain the second by showing the first. The struggle now is for the belt, and as a sequence, that "looming into a prominence." All other things being equal, that part which can bring to bear the most pressure of the belt above or below it is bound to show the greatest prominence. (Vide Belt on Swellings.) There are such things as natural advantages—in the matter of "prominences" of course, and these the Americans (of African descent) have as we will show—if we can procure a subject for the exhibition. (And just here we defy any Grecian Bend or Parisian palpitator to show equal prominence.) "Though her laws (who's she?) are as free," &c., the preponderance of advantage is on her side. (Which side?) Such arguments as we will develop in this article (we keep that "side" in view) give life to the idea called Manifest Absurdity! Remember this.

As no one can successfully dispute the "conquering belt" theory—except it be in cases similar to Heenan vs Sayers, and Allen vs McCoole—it follows that any who are lured out of that belt, become demoralized to a par with those they move onto and, though conquerors in the start rapidly become enervated and the subjects of conquest in the end. [What all this means I cannot, for the life of me, now tell, but I know I thought it grand when I wrote it. If my readers can make it out, I congratulate them upon their acumen and their escape from a fog in which I have been for two years utterly lost, and now for another dash.]

["In the days when crusades and armed marches were in vogue, men acted from impulse, and took the vine and fig trees of their neighbors (at the poles? Coals to Newcastle this) towards the tropics, only in turn to be themselves pressed back [the vines and trees, or the men?] by another generation," etc. Thus successive ages were alike. "In the name of the Prophet, figs!" Thus history repeats itself. And—["Fools rush in where Angels fear to tread."]

In these days men ought to act from calculation. Yes, "an' I thought he had been valiant and so cunning in fence, I'd have seen him damned ere I'd have challenged him." The legions of this Great Republic ought not to be marched to demoralization and death in the tropics [not for Cuba], like the mound builders were, but should be kept and husbanded [wouldn't it be better to wived unless, in these days of strong-minded women's movements, Amazons be meant?] within the conquering belt. Send them to Halifax or to Canadian Red river. The Fenians will march to Canada anyway and all of them can, in these regions, await Manifest Destiny, or a destiny that is manifest.

See our advantages! When the Pacific is double tracked from Alaska to Behring Straits, when the Mississippi shall swallow the Danube of Europe, the Yenesei of Asia, the Amazon of South America, and the Nile of Africa; even as the rod of Aaron swallowed the rods of Pharaoh's sorcerers, when no flag but ours floats over Symmes' Hole, when we will travel on our conquering belt, free and easy, like unto Jem Mace or the Benicia Boy, and show the rest of the world what a big thing the Great American soil is—richer than Astor, livelier than old cheese and prolific as the brain of Train is of humbug, —when all this happens, and you see it, then "remember me."

We will move Asia nearer the Puget Sound and drive the Chinese into it, even as the swine were driven into the lake. We will turn the mouth of the St. Lawrence, and bring its waters down the Big Wallamet; we will put Niagara on the Long Tom, and dam Soap Creek for a harbor, and ocean steamers shall be lubricated with magic oil and fueled with lightning whisky. In this we have no possible rival. Some have feared the Suez canal. The Great American Thoracic Duct defies it. We, who have withstood the terrors of the surging of Erie fear not those of the reading about Suez nor any other man. Napoleon looked on the pyramids. He never saw Mount Hood! We have—ergo we are greater than Napoleon [in our own estimation]. This will confuse the French and Egyptians. They will laugh at us. We will laugh back. Their laugh and their labor will be lost. Then think of me! While M. de Lesseps has been engaged in amputating the Suez Isthmus, the little bugs of the Red Sea have been damming the sea and M. de Lesseps both. Big fish always eat little fish—all the same with big bugs and little bugs. M. de Lesseps' little bugs will find in us a big bug. We will bring them under our "conquering belt." We will be the Chief Bug Eater.

The "conquering belt" rules the world. America (being out of the world, of course) must Rule (with a big R) the "conquering belt." We will wear the "conquering belt"—unless demoralization sets in, with enervation, and conquest of the belt to follow, in which case all said above about the belt goes for nothing.

The "little bugs" which sore pestered the big bugs, yea, even all the dwellers in Egypt long ago, which causeth all of them to scratch away, and which have ever since pestered all peoples even miners and Chinamen (vide John) have had their place on the cliffs of fame as far back as when Homer sang of the fleeing of the Trojans and the days when Romulus stoned to outdo Remus in the augury of the vultures.

We must keep our blood pure and our party straight. Caucasian labor we favor, common sense we want. But Why lavish ointments on a head that's grey?

After we have lowered the British flags (or chair bottoms) constructed a double tracked road from Caruthers' Addition to the Bone Yard, cleaned out the Oregon Flats, enlarged the Intestinal Canal and constructed one like it on the other side so as to make it [illegible], our power will extend over the whole world and the rest of mankind, and American pop guns will regulate the nations. This is manifest absurdity.

Those who fight against the wind will be confused.

This is wind—all wind—absolute wind.

Our own confusion has come of this worse than windy performance. We are akin to the Learned Scholars of Swift and this is a piece of our usual belongings.

WALLA WALLA

We learn from the [illegible] that on Tuesday last a man named Joseph Herbert committed suicide by blowing out his brains with a shot gun. He had been a resident of Walla Walla valley for a number of years, was a sober industrious man but of gloomy temperament.

The citizens of Walla Walla are discussing both privately and in the papers the proposition to purchase a steam fire engine.

On the 17th the valley was visited by a storm of wind, hail, sleet and snow.

A Richmond paper suggests that Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky establish a league for the encouragement of foreign immigration.

A negro boy stole a doll in Petersburg, Va., the other day, and while protesting his innocence unwittingly pressed it as he endeavored to hide it more completely under his shirt. The doll gave a loud squeak, and the little negro who had never heard of crying dolls before, turned almost white and thought a miracle had been done in his case.

New York is the center of the jewelry trade in the United States. Nearly all the wholesale and retail dealers of the country purchase in this market, and wherever the manufactories may be located the owners have to make their headquarters here. Most of the offices are in Maiden Lane and it is here that the bulk of the business is done with buyers.

The Hamilton (Ont.) Times informs those who have tears to shed for the sad fate of Governor William McDougall that they may as well shed them now, if convenient, as at any time. It says that rejected by Oxford he tried North Ontario, rejected by North Ontario, he tried Lanark, and now he is rejected by Red River. Oxford and Ontario at least tried him, but Winnipeg threw him overboard without even a trial.

Recently a pale-faced, sorrow stricken woman, while in a dry goods store at Kansas City, Mo., was observed by a salesman concealing a bundle of laces under her shawl. Very quietly, and without attracting the attention of a single eye in the store, the salesman said to her, "I am not able to pay for the lace under your shawl or you might keep it and welcome. Please put it back while I walk to the other end of the counter." Large tears came into the woman's haggard eyes, her whole face expressed gratitude, and without a word put the lace back and walked out of the store.

The Eugene Journal says: "Several families who are direct from the old States, arrived in Eugene a few days ago, and we believe are intending to settle here if locations can be had to suit. We understand they came by railroad to California and thence by steamer to Portland."

A letter from Jesse Applegate is published in which he expresses the opinion that a route can be found running from Eugene south across the ridge east of Spencer Butte which will probably be better than the route up the river. Parties have been engaged in ascertaining the hight of this ridge and the amount of cutting or tunneling which will be necessary to cross it with a road, but have not as yet finished their investigation.

A correspondent of the Farmer writing about Nehalem river and valley, says there are four families residing in the valley at present, near the old government crossing. The valley is from one to six miles wide, in some places including branch valleys ten miles wide. There are about thirty head of horses and cattle in the valley this winter. Coal crops out along the banks of the river. Bands of elk—ten to thirty—are frequently seen. Climate mild and agreeable. Chance for quite a number of settlers.

White Pine

We are permitted to take the following extract from a letter from Hamilton, White Pine, dated Dec. 8th, written by a gentleman formerly resident of this city:

In one sense of the word times are hard here, or rather there is but little money among the masses. All the mills are running and doing well. So are the mines. Many of the mills have ore enough delivered to them to run all winter. As yet, one of the mines that take out two tons of ore a day have shut down, neither will they. We have had two snow storms, not more than three inches of snow fell either time. I do not look for a hard winter. Hamilton is improving steadily. Quite a number of houses have been moved down from Treasure City. The new court house is completed and occupied. The new City Hall will be completed in a few weeks. The Bank of California now owns the Von Schmidt Water Works. It is understood that they will soon [illegible] water and thus compel mill owners to sell their mills to the Bank of California, same as they did [illegible] Virginia City. The Stanford mill [illegible] stamps, Freeglones 10 stamps, [illegible] (Chicago Co.) 10 stamps, Millers 10 stamps, Big Smoky 20 stamps, all receive their water from the Water Co. [illegible] Lowenstein & Co., have offered to furnish [illegible] in White's new brick, suitably for a [illegible] at a cost not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars.

The annual meeting of the Portland Dray & Express Company will take place January 1, 1870.

The time for paying assessments levied for the [illegible] of Morrison street will expire to-[illegible]

The opium of which we spoke yesterday as seized by the officers, consisted of nineteen small [illegible] of that drug, that were taken from Chinamen by Marshal Saunders who ferreted the [illegible] out. The contraband stuff was turned over to Deputy Collector Hoyt.

Railroad News.—We learn that the first [illegible] twenty miles of the Oregon Central Railroad [illegible] is about completed and that the [illegible] the Clackamas river which is now the [illegible] will be finished in a day or two. The prosecution of this work is certainly [illegible] of great energy, when we consider the [illegible] encountered in the bad weather, during [illegible] a part of the work has been done and [illegible] carrying away by high water of the bridge [illegible]. The road will be built further next [illegible] but a few months will elapse before [illegible] will wake the slumbering echoes" [illegible] banks of the fair Willamette and the [illegible] its nostrils full back as he ascends the [illegible] of Southern Oregon, and looks down [illegible] of California. With this era dawns upon our State at large [illegible] open up the avenues of [illegible] ity and great effect upon our future progress.

Circuit Court.—In the Circuit Court, Hon. [illegible] Upton, Judge, the following proceedings [illegible] yesterday:

State of Oregon vs. Kea Wan; defendant sentenced to [illegible] in the penitentiary for 18 [illegible] for manslaughter.

City of Portland vs. John Whittle; defendant [illegible] with tearing down the gates on [illegible] leading into the Plaza; jury trial; [illegible] guilty.

[illegible] vs. D. Wittenburg, et. al.; decree [illegible] David and Caroline Wittenburg [illegible] and decree of foreclosure [illegible] and [illegible] amount of debt, $185.

[illegible] adjourned to nine o'clock this morning.

[illegible]—A lodge of Good Templars was organized by Mr. Beal, G. W. C. T., at Beaver, [illegible] county, last Saturday evening. The [illegible] of charter members was twenty-nine, who [illegible] following officers to serve the present [illegible]: W. C. T., C. Misner; W. V. T., Mrs. [illegible]; W. S., A. E. Misner; W. A. S., C. [illegible]; W. F. S., W. F. Kirk; W. T., Mary [illegible]; W. M., W. H. Leatherman; W. D. M., [illegible]; W. I. G., Emma Waldron; W. O. G., [illegible] Misner; W. C., W. F. Beatty; P. W. C. T., [illegible] Waldron; W. R. H. S., Mrs. Henrietta [illegible]; W. L. H. S., Mrs. Kirk; Lodge Deputy, [illegible] Meeds.

[illegible] Music.—Programme of 23d Infantry [illegible] for Wednesday, December 22d, 1869,

[illegible] Quickstep.
[illegible] "Viva la Joie."
[illegible] and Finale, from Lucia de Lammermoor—Donizetti.
[illegible] "Lurline."
Ringlets Waltz.—D'Albert.
Hungarian Melody.
Song, "You Don't Know How We Miss Thee."
[illegible] Express Galop.

[illegible].—Among the recent inventions in [illegible] use, one of the most useful is Pickering's governor for steam engines. It is a decided improvement upon the machinery heretofore used for regulating the speed of engines, and will probably come into general use. By it, the engine [illegible] in the saw mill of Hayden, [illegible] is regulated with the utmost precision and regularity, the speed increasing the least [illegible] amount when the saws are free, above [illegible] sustained when they are cutting the largest [illegible]. We believe there is but one in use in our [illegible].

For Victoria.—The steamer Gussie Telfair [illegible] for Victoria yesterday evening with [illegible] tons of freight and the following list of passengers: Charles Bennett and daughter, [illegible], J B Robinson, Capt. J. Hayes, [illegible] infant, Mr J W Carter and wife, Elias [illegible] wife, William Barry, Q C Mavison, [illegible] Ellerton, Fred Peffger, Chas P Hillborn, [illegible] and wife, Hubert Watney, Wm Rains [illegible] Nellie Cummings, Mr. Geo F Bird and [illegible] Thayer, R Clinton, Chas Bray, [illegible], Mr David Morris and 2 children.

To-Day.—Upon a foundation no less solid than the granite steps of the court house in this city, under the broad canopy of Heaven, A. B. [illegible] will expose to public vendue some of [illegible] eligibly situated real estate in Portland. [illegible] land sales by Mr. Richardson to-day will take place at the court house instead of his [illegible] rooms. Special attention is called to his [illegible] in this paper and to his posters [illegible] the city.

[illegible] McNear.—This steamer formerly employed on Puget Sound, but which has lain at the [illegible] Yard at the lower end of the city for some [illegible], is to be refitted and repaired. She will [illegible] down to Astoria and take her place [illegible] the waters of the lower Columbia, running [illegible] Astoria to Fort Disappointment, Skippanon and other points. This arrangement will afford a needed convenience for the Astorians.

Proceedings.—We are in receipt of the published proceedings of the last session of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars of Oregon and Washington Territory. It is sent with the compliments of the Corvallis Gazette, and composes a pamphlet of 42 pages. Its typographical appearance is decidedly neat, and does credit to A. L. Stinson, of Salem, whose imprint it bears.

Freight.—The Telfair, which sailed yesterday evening for Victoria, carried 250 tons of freight and yet a large quantity which was offered was refused for want of room. Another [illegible] is indispensable to supply the increasing [illegible] for shipping in that direction.

For Victoria.—The Carter troupe, comprising sixteen persons, go to Victoria on the Telfair, to furnish amusement for the "Britishers" for a week or two, and to make money. They can do the first and deserve the former. Their entertainments here have given general and entire satisfaction and their return will be looked for and greeted with pleasure by the theater goers of this city.

A Heavy Dose.—A popular dentist in this city yesterday undertook to administer sufficient amount of gas to a patient to render her insensible to the pain incident to an operation on her teeth. After she had inhaled sixteen gallons, the Doctor concluded that the "gas bill" would be so heavy that the lady's husband would object, and so concluded to have that gentleman before increasing the dose.

Appointment Received.—Mr. Savier, of this city, one of the Railroad Commissioners, appointed to inspect and report upon the road as finished, has received official notice of his appointment. Doubtless the other Commissioners will soon, or have already received similar notice, and they will immediately proceed to the duty assigned them.

Why not?—It has been suggested that our business men close their houses on Christmas day so as to give their employes a chance to enjoy the festive occasion. If such was the general understanding no loss would inure to any one, and all would be better pleased in the end. Why can it not be done?

Held to Answer.—The man Sweeney, charged with an assault with a dangerous weapon, was up before Recorder Anderson and held to appear before the grand jury of Multnomah county. Bail was fixed at five hundred dollars, which was given.

Quick.—Yesterday we saw a log measuring three feet through and sixteen feet in length, drawn up the slide at the upper saw mill a distance of over 200 feet in just one minute.

Frozen.—We learn of some persons who lost fruit on night before last from freezing, all because they didn't take our advice and protect it in time.

Weather.—Yesterday, cold and clear till night; last night cold and foggy; some indications of snow; temperature averaged about 28 degrees.

Precaution.—The Chief Engineer was testing the various fire hydrants yesterday evening to ascertain if any of them were frozen up.

Recess.—We are informed that a recess will be taken by the Circuit Court to-day, lasting until after the holidays.

Removed.—Koshland Bros. are now fairly established in their elegant store in the Odd Fellows' Hall.

Go Rough Shod.—The frost on the side walks and street crossings render it expedient to go rough shod.

Low.—The river at this place is getting quite low.

"Stone" is about the hardest name in the city, but notwithstanding that he has the best assortment of goods in his line in the State, at his Jewelry store, No. 107 Front street.

Boys' Clothing.—Another addition to the already large stock of Boys' Clothing was received by Kohn & Fishel. They are really handsome and all custom made. There is nothing more appropriate or more serviceable for a Christmas gift to a boy, than one of those handsome suits. Kohn & Fishel's stock of clothing cannot be surpassed. An examination of their stock will convince all that their stock is the best and at the lowest prices.

Just Open at Hurgren & Shindler's, a fine assortment of Fancy Brackets, Brackets with mirrors, Brackets with drawers, and Brackets with rustic frames. Also, Gentlemen's Easy Chairs, Ladies Easy Chairs and Work Stand, suitable for Christmas Presents.

Quite a Change on First Street.—Walking along First street it seems to our citizens to be on Broadway, New York. Bauman Bros. make quite a display with the best of Clothing, Merchant Tailoring and Gents' Furnishing Goods that ever was seen in our city, and it is a surprise how cheap they sell. At the corner in the Odd Fellows Temple, 101 First street.

The largest and finest lot of Ladies, Mink Collars, Muffs, Victorines; also, Children's Fur Sets, to be sold before the Holidays, at reduced prices, at the New York Store of M. Moskowitz, 125 Front street.

Open in the Evening.—Jackson, Sanderson & Co. will keep their store open until 9 o'clock in the evening until after the Holidays.

Important News.—To gentlemen who are married, those who are going to be, or those who would like to be: If you want to get a fine Suit of Clothing for the Holidays or to get married in, you can find them at very low rates by calling at Beck & Waldman's, corner Front and Washington streets, Portland Oregon.

Dyspepsia in the Pacific States.

Nowhere in the United States has dyspepsia heretofore been more general, or marked with more distressing symptoms, than in California. Luxury, high living and dissipation in the cities, hardship, privation, irregular habits and the effects of malaria in the mining regions, have combined to render Chronic Indigestion one of the most terrible scourges of the Pacific States. It is a source of satisfaction, therefore, to be able to report the gradual and steady decline of the disease and its distressing concomitants on this side of the Continent. As this happy change began to be perceptible soon after HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS had attained the rank of a Standard Remedy in this region, and has it has become more and more apparent, in proportion to the increasing sales of the Great Vegetable Specific, reason suggests that the bane has been ameliorated and checked by the operations of the genial elixir advertised as its antidote. Unprejudiced physicians admit this to be the fact, and abandoning all the ordinary stimulants, as well as the astringent tinctures and mineral excitants of the pharmacopoeia, are now prescribing the BITTERS as a cure for every form of indigestion. The preparation possesses three great advantages over every other so-called stomachic. It is not merely a tonic, but combines the properties of an anti-bilious medicine, a gentle laxative, and a blood depurent, with those of a wholesome stimulant. It neither depletes nor excites; but strengthens, soothes, purifies and restores. No medicine ever introduced into the Pacific region has so entirely gained the confidence of every class of society, or approached in the extent of its sales HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS

NEW YORK DATES TO DEC. 5TH—CHICAGO DATES TO DEC. 7TH

THE NATIONAL BOARD OF TRADE—SPEECHES OF PROMINENT DELEGATES.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 4.—At the dinner to-night, at the Exchange Hotel, to the members of the National Board of Trade, there were present 300 persons, including nearly every leading citizen in Richmond. The toast commenced with one to "Our Country," which was followed with music, the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie," both of which were loudly applauded. The toast welcoming guests in the name of Virginia was replied to by Mr. Frailey, of Philadelphia, President of the Board. He spoke of the sad separation which had occurred, but thanked God it was all over now, and the visitors feel that on the soil of Virginia they stood among their countrymen. The action of the Board to-day on the water line to the Mississippi showed, he said, the feeling toward Virginia. It was a desire to make her great that animated their breasts. This visit would not only be beneficial in a business point of view, but in a political view. He had seen around him since his arrival here men in whose hands he felt the future of the country would be safe. He thought the time would come when the whole of this continent would be one Government under the Star Spangled Banner. He felt that they had been received here in a way that created a feeling of brotherhood which would never die out. He proposed the sentiment, "Prosperity to the North, South, East and West, and especially to the City of Richmond." Three cheers were given for Mr. Frailey at the conclusion of his remarks.

The toast to commerce and agriculture was replied to by Mr. Thomas, of St. Paul. He said Virginia had laid an empire on the altar of the Union to found a progressive nationality, and he was a citizen of Minnesota, a part of that nationality. Virginians had planted monuments of their industry and their virtue in every State in the West. He predicted for Virginia a great future in agriculture and commerce. Speaking of the vote on the water line to-day, he said Virginians were leaving State Rights and coming heavily [illegible] centralization and consolidation. [Great laughter.] He gave as a sentiment, "The speedy completion of the Southern Pacific Railroad."

General Walbridge, of New York, responded to the toast of "Economy in public expenditures and a strict accountability of public agents." He said that the man that attempted to prevent the restoration of Virginia to the Union was an enemy to his country, [continued applause,] and he believed that was the President's opinion. He advocated strict economy in public expenditures.

THE INDIANA DEMOCRACY—DAN. VOORHEES PITCHES THE KEY NOTE OF THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.]

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Wednesday, Dec. 1, 1869.

The Democratic Convention to nominate delegates to the State Convention met this forenoon. Hon. John Pettit was renominated for the Supreme Bench. After the business of the Convention was transacted, it adjourned to the Opera House, and at 2 o'clock Hon. D. W. Voorhees was introduced by Col. John S. Williams.

Mr. Voorhees spoke at length. He discussed the Fifteenth Amendment from a Democratic standpoint. He justified the Democratic members of the Legislature in resigning, and said the attempt was made to crush out the right of the people to control the question of suffrage. The Republican party had pledged itself to respect this right, but it had falsified it. Public sentiment was defied by the Republican leaders. The people of this country, he said, are ground down by taxation as no other country is taxed; from the sweat of the brow of labor is wrung some four hundred millions of revenue, which is used for corrupt and illegitimate purposes. He doubted if the statements of the Treasury Department were true. He did not believe the public debt was being reduced. The Legal Tender act was an act of repudiation, and if there was talk of repudiating the national debt the Republicans opened the way to it. He would pay the bondholders in greenbacks, or in gold at the gold value of the debt at the time it was contracted. Not one-half of the value of the bonds now held ever found its way into the United States Treasury. If the holders [illegible] they might not get anything. [illegible] might be driven to do that which [illegible] the bondholder is willing to [illegible]. The Funding bill proposed by S[illegible] to perpetuate the debt, to make it a permanent and profitable investment for capital. It would be but a repetition of [illegible] of finance. No one ever [illegible] Great Britain ever being paid. [illegible] the poor toil to pay the interest, and the wealthy [illegible] the proceeds. Our public debt, estimated at what was actually received by the Government, could be paid in five or ten years. [illegible] the national banking system, but no new arrangement was advanced.

The speech is significant, from the fact that it is supposed to be the key note of the coming campaign. Mr. Voorhees said he intended to be a candidate for Congress next fall.

THE OPENING OF THE 41ST CONGRESS.

[From the Chicago Republican.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—At the hour of noon both Houses were brought to order, and the usual style of prayers followed, and then the calling of the roll. In the House half a dozen members presented themselves to be sworn in, including two or three from Alabama, who were invited to stand [illegible]. The old habits seemed to return to the members naturally, and talk was plenty and [illegible]. Schenck sounded a truce and moved for a committee to wait upon the President. In the Senate the same action was taken. A [illegible] House followed.

RECEIVING THE MESSAGE.

The President was waited upon; the Committees rode back in their carriages; the President's message followed soon after, and was read from the Clerk's desk in each House. It was listened to with great attention, something unusual in the messages for the past few years. Some disloyal Democrats on the floor, after the reading of the first page or two, declared that it was a Thanksgiving proclamation; while others said it was a lesson in physical geography. When the [illegible] to Georgia was read, there was a lively clapping of hands by the Republican members, accompanied by a few hisses from the Democrats. The Democrats laughed outright when that portion recommending the repeal of the Civil Tenure law was reached. Butler did not like the financial part of the message, and some of the members were displeased at the attitude on finances and foreign affairs, especially with reference to Cuba. The Cubans, however, were not surprised, and upon the whole not displeased. They say that the language used is diplomatic, and that the President is much more friendly than his message would imply. Altogether, the message is spoken of generally in terms of the highest praise.

All of the department and bureau reports were presented, and all of the documents were ordered to be printed. No business of importance was transacted, and the general report already sent you will give the routine facts. Of course there are a few hundred bills in each house ready to be presented by ambitious statesmen, upon which much wind will be exhausted before the season ends. Congress seem disposed, however, to take things easy until after the holidays.

INTERESTING POSTAL STATISTICS

The receipts of the Department for year ending last June were $18,344,510 against $16,292,600 for the previous year, an increase of 12½ per cent.; the expenditures for the same time were $23,698,131, against $22,735,965 for the previous year, or an increase of 4¼ per cent. The number of stamps issued during the year was nearly half a million, valued at $12,722,565, exclusive of $2,355,457 worth of stamped envelopes and wrappers. The number of money order offices is 1,675. The amount of money that passed through the 1,468 offices that were in business during the past year was about $25,000,000. The receipts from fees were $176,247, an excess over the expenses of $65,653, a very noticeable balance, when we remember that the money order department ran behind over $7,000 during its first year, 1865.

Nearly 4,000,000 letters went to the dead letter office last year, of which, 361,984 were unmailable, 33,000 were registered and 17,417 were fictitious, i. e., addressed to boxes and pseudonyms. There were also 70,129 letters, of which the address was incomplete, and 2,678 which their careless authors had forgotten to direct at all. The amount of money in the dead letters was $134,000, of which $82,000 has been returned to the persons who sent it. The rest is retained for redemption, and will await the appearance of its owners for four years, at the expiration of which time whatever is unclaimed will go into the Treasury. There was also found $3,000,000 worth of drafts, deeds, bills of exchange, etc. The amount realized from the sale of waste dead letters was $2,067, which formerly was a perquisite of the third Assistant Postmaster-General, but now goes to the Government.
